DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment filed 12/28/06 has been entered. Examiner acknowledges claims 5, 7 and 8 have been cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shiotsuka et al (6,175,075 B1).

2. Regarding claim 1, Shiotsuka et al discloses a semiconductor device comprising: a semiconductor element that has a first surface on which an external connection terminal is formed and a second surface that faces the first surface, and a thickness of 10 μ m or more and 150 μ m or less (Figure 4, reference 400); a plate that faces the second surface (Figure 4, reference 401); and a resin binder that adheres the second surface and the plate, wherein the plate has the-a rigidity higher than that of the semiconductor element (column 14, lines 53-67); an outer shape of the plate is larger than that of the semiconductor element; and the resin binder covers a side face of the semiconductor element, and furthermore at a portion that is interposed between the second surface and the plate the resin binder allows the semiconductor element to deform in a thickness direction thereof (column 5, lines 57-67 thru column 6, lines 1-22).

3. Regarding claim 2, Shiotsuka et al discloses wherein the resin binder covers at least an edge that is formed of defined by a side face and the second surface of the semiconductor element about the outer periphery of the semiconductor element (column 14, lines 53-67).

4. Regarding claim 3, Shiotsuka et al discloses wherein the resin binder covers the side face over an entire circumference of the semiconductor element (column 14, lines 53-67).

5. Regarding claim 4, Shiotsuka et al discloses wherein the resin binder covers only a corner of the side face of the semiconductor element (column 14, lines 53-67).

6. Regarding claim 9, Shiotsuka et al discloses wherein the semiconductor element includes a re-wiring layer on the first surface, the re-wiring layer has a surface electrode formed on a surface and an internal electrode formed inside thereof, and the internal electrode connects the surface electrode and the external connection terminal (Figure 1, reference 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shiotsuka et al (6,175,075 B1) in view of Nakamura et al (6,300,576 B1).

7. Shiotsuka et al discloses all above claimed subject matter except wherein the external connection terminal is provided with a bump (claims 6 and 10).

Nakamura et al discloses wherein the external connection terminal is provided with a bump (column 1, lines 34-51).

It would have been obvious, at the time the invention was made, for one having ordinary skill in the art, to modify Shiotsuka et al, with the teachings of Nakamura et al, for the purpose of forming an electrical connection between the semiconductor element and second surface.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 11-20 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Reasons For Allowance

9. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art does not disclose nor fairly suggest a semiconductor device assembling method as provided in independent claim 11.

The first surface to which the semiconductor element is formed has been polished while the second surface is finished in order to remove a damaged layer which makes a very thin semiconductor element.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4, 6 and 9-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
